CEO Message

Welcome to the spring edition of the Tenants Voice Newsletter.

This issue of the Tenants Voice demonstrates the varied range of programs and services that Hume offers to our customers and the local community.

Our commitment to working with different groups and support services to create opportunities for the future is the foundation for a new range of initiatives.

I am proud to announce that two of our recent projects, MHBiz which focused on increasing the knowledge and skills base of staff and customers to support people with mental health issues and 'The Collectives', a group collaboration focusing on hoarding and squalor; was given a Highly Commended Award for Best Partnership working and the 2016 NSW Awards for Excellence in Community Housing.

I would like to offer my congratulations to all customers and staff that participated in both these projects and recognise you as being integral in Hume receiving the award.

All of the information contained in this newsletter and more detailed descriptions of the services we offer can be found on our website www.humecha.com.au

Always ask for ID

Hume employs a panel of contractors to carry out a wide range of services to help maintain your home and for Hume to stay compliant with the latest regulations.

Hume has stipulated that all contractors must make an appointment with you in advance of them attending your home, with the exception of emergency/urgent repairs.

Hume have also asked that all of our contractors and their operatives are required to carry ID (Identification) which is to be presented to you when they attend your property and should be shown at any time when requested.

To ensure your safety and wellbeing – we encourage you to always ensure you receive an appointment prior to a contractor attending and to always check the contractors ID before allowing them access to your home. We have listed several points below to help remind you of the key points to check when using the Hume repairs and maintenance service:

Appointments

When a contractor calls, ask them to confirm the repair they are calling about to ensure it matches the repair request you sent to Hume. Take a note of the date and time provided and agreed with the contractor. Take a note of the contractors' business name.

Attendance at your home:

Does the attendance match the appointment time and date provided prior?
Does the person have ID?
Does the ID match the contractor details who made the appointment?
Ask the person to confirm the repair they have come to complete.

If you are unsure of any of the above details, please contact a member of the Hume team prior to allowing anyone access to your home.

You can call our dedicated Maintenance Line on 02 9727 0688 if you would like to check whether a contractor has been sent by Hume to your home.

Hume's Home Energy Efficiency Project

As the weather becomes warmer and the days longer, it's nice to know that our heaters will be getting less use in the months ahead.

Hume's Home Energy Efficiency Project (HEEP) will be providing energy efficiency upgrades over the coming months, aimed at reducing customer's energy use and bills

One of the ways you can participate in Hume's Home Energy Efficiency Project (HEEP) is by contributing to our energy bill data collection. We encourage customer participation, and one of the easiest ways to participate is to send in a photo of recent and future energy bills.

This will enable us to perform a before and after comparison to assess the benefits of energy efficiency upgrades that we will be providing over coming months.

The information will be kept private and only be used to help evaluate the program. You are welcome to black out your name for privacy, but we do need to be able to see the address in order to be able to use the information in the before and after comparison.

You can send photos of your recent and future energy bills to: hume@humecha.com.au

Alternatively, bring us in a copy of your bill the next time you visit the Hume Offices at Fairfield or Parramatta.

Customer Success Story

"I'm Amal Abdelgadir and I'm one of the Hume Community Housing customers. I'm qualified in library and information services. I had been struggling to find a job as a library technician till I met a Hume Community Housing Officer in a block meeting. I had a chat with him about finding a job. Then he raised my issue to Sarithya Tuy, the Community Cohesion officer who gave my issue a priority. He called me to further discuss my career aspirations, and asked me questions to find out my level of awareness of pathways and options available to me. Then, he provided me with some links to other job search web sites I didn't know and offered to edit my resume to make it more attractive.

I told him I tried to contact local council libraries many times to do some volunteer work, but never heard back from them. Sarithya made enquiries to manager of council's library services about volunteer opportunities, and successfully linked me to manager of Fairfield Library Services. I sent my resume to the manager and got the interview for a casual position. Sarithya offered me some tips before I went to the interview. I was excited to be offered the casual position, and can't wait to start my work.

I would like to thank Hume community officers who did their best to assist me in taking the first step into doing the job I have always dreamt of doing.

So if you're like me and don't know employment pathways or options available to you, talk to Sarithya."

If there was one ACTIVITY, COURSE or JOB you would very much want to do, what would it be?

Our new Community Cohesion Team has resourceful, highly skilled, well-connected, and passionate staff members who may be able to assist you to make that happen for you.

How can you let us know?

- Call us on 9722 4349 to discuss your needs and aspirations; or
- Complete the Expression of Interest (EOI) form at Hume's Office in Fairfield or Parramatta; or
- Request for EOI form by email to get.involved@humecha.com.au and return the completed form to same email.

Where to obtain advice on your Housing Options

If you would like information on what types of housing or other services are available for you, your friends or family then contact our Housing Options team at Hume on 02 9722 4370 or speak to a member of our Customer Services team.

As a registered housing provider we are able to provide you with accurate and up to date information on the applications process, waiting times and support services. We are also happy to assist you with completing application forms and can organise a translator if English is not your first language.

Relying on friends or members of your community for information may not always provide you with the correct details. It is important that you contact a housing professional or a registered tenant's advocacy service. You can obtain further information from <https://beta.tenants.org.au> or call the Western Sydney Tenants Service on (02) 8833 0933

Advice is always free and nobody should ever charge you for assisting with an application for housing. Money should never be paid to anyone promising to help you get a property more quickly than the standard waiting times.

Young people are also encouraged to stay connected and get up to date housing information, employment and engagement opportunities and access to the YHOP Coordinator for tailored support via the Youth Housing Options Project Facebook page.

Here is what some recent YHOP participants had to say about YHOP:

"It was more insightful than I was expecting and offered great information about youth housing options. It was well thought out and very organised. It's definitely something helpful to those who aren't sure about their tenancy rights and their options for housing. And the pizza was great too!" - Naua age 17

"It was worth waking up early for the workshops as they were awesome. They are fun and serious all at the same time and fun activities to participate in... it was extremely helpful and wouldn't say no to going again." - Shantelle age 22

"It gives you the knowledge what to look for when you apply for a house, and make sure you do your research for when you inspect a house. I had so much fun with Alison, Colin and fellow class mates and I will do it again." - Jennifer age 21

There are also upcoming developments in Bankstown, Warwick Farm and Fairfield.

Complaints, Compliments & Appeals

Hume Housing constantly looks at ways in which we can improve our customer service levels. Sometimes improvements to our practices are only reached through receiving complaints from our customers. We are always happy to receive your feedback and look at how we can review the way we operate.

How do I make a complaint?

If you would like to make a complaint about our services, then you are welcome to discuss it with a member of our staff. After the initial discussion all customers of Hume are able to lodge a formal complaint if the informal procedure is not satisfactory or the issue at hand is of a serious nature and further investigation is required. You can obtain a Complaints form from our Customer Service Officers either by coming into Fairfield or Parramatta or requesting one be sent to you. You are also able to download a copy from our website www.humecha.com.au

What happens next?

Your written complaint is added to our complaints register and you will be sent an acknowledgment letter within 48 hours of us receiving it. Your complaint will be assigned to the appropriate manager and an investigation will be conducted. You will be advised of the outcome in writing within 15 working days. The letter should explain clearly what we looked at to reach our decision and any policies and procedures that were considered. If no policy or procedure has been breached or no improvements can be identified, we will explain that no further action will be taken and why.

Alternatively we may provide:

- a. An apology
- b. An explanation
- c. An assurance about future actions
- d. Immediate change to how things are completed

I'm still not happy with the outcome. What can I do now?

If you are still not satisfied, then you can make a request to have your complaint reconsidered by a Senior Manager. You also have the right to lodge an appeal once the initial complaints procedure has been finalised.

Lodging an Appeal

If you are unhappy with a decision made as a result of the initial complaints process, then you can submit an appeal and we will review our decision. You can obtain an Appeal form from our Customer Service Officers either by coming into Fairfield or Parramatta or requesting one be sent to you. You are also able to download a copy from our website www.humecha.com.au

Requesting an Independent Review

If you are still not satisfied with our internal complaints process then you may be able to lodge an appeal with the Housing Appeals Committee (HAC). Further information can be obtained from <http://www.hac.nsw.gov.au/> or from a Hume Housing Officer.

Compliments

We always welcome positive feedback on anything you think we are doing well and look forward to hearing your good news stories.

Please contact us on 02 9722 4300 for further information or email hume@humecha.com.au
